Why Be An Exhibitor

The Partnership for Water Sustainability in BC (PWSBC) and Irrigation Industry Association of BC (IIABC) invite you to be a Rainwater Harvesting Workshop Exhibitor.

This one-day workshop is open not only to PWSBC and IIABC members, but also to a wide variety of affiliate industry groups, including architects, builders, plumbers, engineers, landscapers, gardeners, do-it-yourselfers, water conservation leaders, and policy officials, in addition to rainwater system designers, installers and product representatives.

This opportunity to exhibit your products and/or service will bring your organization's representatives into contact with those officials responsible for making purchasing decisions and with those who influence the decision makers. The educational atmosphere stimulated by the workshop will allow all aspects of your products and/or services to be presented at a time conducive to discussions and understanding.

As a participating exhibitor, you can expect to benefit by promoting your products and/or services, networking with workshop attendees and building stronger community partnerships. Attendees will be there to learn about the latest developments on rainwater harvesting, network with their peers and to visit with suppliers of products and services. As an exhibitor, you will have the unique opportunity to tap into this network.

The exhibit space will be in close proximity to the workshop meeting rooms, and break stations will be supplied with food and refreshments to encourage attendees to take a break and visit the exhibits.

Reserve your space now, as space is limited and will be assigned on a first-come basis. See next page for rates.
